

KKR Citizenship: Our Impact on Communities

The ways in which we engage with our employees and impact our communities are critical components of our long-term growth and success.

Good governance and a strong culture of citizenship play important roles in both the foundation and the future of our Firm. KKR's citizenship platform is designed to harness the enthusiasm, commitment, and potential of our employees to better support nonprofit organizations and community causes.

OUR PHILANTHROPY

Globally, KKR has donated $10.3 million to charitable organizations through the KKR Charitable Gift Fund since 2005. In addition, the KKR Employee Matching Gift Program has provided nearly $1.1 million to nonprofit organizations across the globe since its launch in 2013.

The Firm's commitment to philanthropy is shared by our founders, Henry R. Kravis and George R. Roberts, as they are both actively engaged in leading nonprofits in their respective communities.

The Henry R. Kravis Prize in Leadership recognizes excellence in the nonprofit sector through an annual grant awarded for extraordinary leadership.

REDF, an organization founded by George R. Roberts, provides equity-like grants and business assistance to nonprofits in California and creates jobs and employment opportunities for people facing the greatest barriers to work.

A New Way to Give Back

During 2016, our 40th anniversary as a firm, we are supporting employee efforts to give back to their communities through a program called KKR 40 for 40. Each employee globally will be provided up to 40 hours of paid volunteer time to use at nonprofits in their community. To amplify our impact, we are encouraging employees to focus their efforts on employment and community development, health and education, and the environment.

Employees can structure their time how it best suits them and can give hours to as many or as few nonprofits as they wish. During this year of our anniversary celebration, we hope employees will take the time to give back to others in the same spirit of partnership, teamwork, and excellence that has built our Firm. We will be sharing stories and updates on this effort throughout the year through our website and social media accounts. We invite you along on the journey by visiting kkr.com/responsibility/citizenship/kkr-40-40 or using the hashtag #KKR40for40.

Promoting Impact Investment With Pro Bono Consulting Services

As a way to engage with impact investing, KKR provides pro bono consulting services to social enterprises – businesses that put social impact on par with or ahead of financial impact. Since 2013, employees from KKR and KKR Capstone¹ have provided financial, operational, and analytical expertise to three organizations in Asia: East Bali Cashews, Glovax Biotech Corporation, and Banyan Nation.²

This effort will expand to the United States in 2016 to engage more KKR employees and further harness the power of social enterprises around the world. To help ensure that we adhere to best practices and to maximize our effectiveness, we partner with leading impact investing firms, including Global Impact Investing Network, Impact Investment Exchange Asia, Impact Investment Shujog, and Tideline.

This work enabled EBC to raise more than $2 million, which it used to expand operations and update machinery. KKR's assistance enabled EBC to create long-term value for the company and community, and, in 2016, EBC was recognized with the U.S. Secretary of State's Award for Corporate Excellence.
